

A woman with long hair, wearing a long, flowing, reddish-brown dress, stands in a field of tall, dry grass. She is looking out over a body of water towards a distant, low-lying shoreline. The sky is filled with soft, orange and yellow clouds, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. In the foreground, two modern, light-colored wooden chairs with woven seats and backs are positioned on either side of the woman. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

UKIYO LOUNGE CHAIR

When visiting Japan, designer Monica Armani was fascinated by the signs and the sophistication of Japanese culture, especially its eye for detail, which also reflects her personal design aesthetic. Curved lines like brushstrokes, precise yet ethereal, as found in the Japanese writing system, inspired the Ukiyo collection. The collection's lounge chair balances these fluid curves with taut lines and a careful visual weight in every element, while offering unmatched comfort.

NOMAD LOUNGE CHAIR

The Nomad collection represents a refined and durable design. Designer Monica Armani chose what she calls ‘noble teak wood’ for its warmth, smoothness, and strength. The slender legs and contoured armrests of the collection’s lounge chair create an elegant profile. Smartly stitched to cocoon the body, its deep cushion is as luxurious as it is comfortable. As its name suggests, the Nomad lounge chair works beautifully wherever it is placed, whether in a lounge setting or as a stand-alone piece.

SURO LOUNGE CHAIR

The mastery of materials and curves characterises Christophe Delcourt's Suro collection. The collection's lounge chair embodies the symbiosis of two materials: the elegant rigour of teak wood or powder-coated aluminium and the flexibility of the braided rope weaving. These materials blend harmoniously into an exceptional design. The wood or aluminium defines the structure of the seat, while the fibre backrest, as if suspended from it, forms an embracing, cocoon-like petal that offers unique comfort through its gentle roundness.

NAGOMI

by Inoda+Sveje

NAGOMI

Tribù introduces Nagomi, a dining and lounging collection by designers Inoda+Sveje. With its ultra-light cast aluminium frame complemented by handwoven Canax® detailing – a refined fusion of hemp and weather-resistant performance – Nagomi balances craftsmanship, minimalist beauty and eco-conscious design.

Organic minimalism by Inoda+Sveje

The name Nagomi is of Japanese origin and evokes harmony, calmness, softness, peace and balance. It reflects the essence of traditional Japanese aesthetics and philosophy.

Inoda+Sveje's signature approach is evident in Nagomi's gentle contours and understated silhouette. The designers seamlessly integrated form and comfort, resulting in a refined aesthetic that complements both indoor and outdoor spaces. Precision-cast aluminium elements provide stability while remaining remarkably light, making Nagomi easy to move and position wherever it's needed.

Nils Sveje: "Central to Nagomi's design philosophy is the idea of organic minimalism, avoiding straight lines and drawing inspiration from nature. We focus on a human-centered approach, merging visual appeal and tactile richness with natural comfort. Nagomi adapts to the body while reflecting sustainable values and genuine craftsmanship."

“Nagomi is not just designed for the eye, but for the body. The collection is intended to evoke a sanctuary, with a sense of exotic serenity, while crafted with exquisite detail.”

Hemp-based weaving for comfort and durability

At the heart of Nagomi is Tribù’s Canax®, a hemp-based fibre offering exceptional strength and resilience outdoors. The artisanal weave creates a soft, supportive seat and backrest, providing comfort for long, relaxing moments. Its natural texture adds warmth, while its weatherproof qualities ensure lasting performance in any climate.

Sustainable luxury for modern living

Both Tribù and Inoda+Sveje share a passion for responsible design. Nagomi takes a significant step toward sustainable innovation. By integrating renewable hemp and a powder-coated aluminium frame with an ultra-durable finish, the collection is designed to endure beautifully over time. This thoughtful material approach reflects Tribù’s commitment to durability combined with timeless sophistication.

Universal allure

While rooted in tradition, Nagomi warmly embraces innovation. Its organic contours, light construction, and neutral tones allow it to harmonise with a broad range of design spaces and styles, from modern minimalism to cozy eclectic. Nagomi is a striking statement collection that elevates both style and well-being with quiet elegance.

REIMAGINED

VIS À VIS

by Piergiorgio Cazzaniga & Tribù Studio

VIS À VIS

The Vis À Vis collection in premium plantation teak embodies refined craftsmanship and modular elegance.

A soft silhouette with subtle detailing

The slender teak platforms of the modular sofa support comfortable all-weather cushions without any visible back or arm structure, creating an open, airy expression that emphasises proportion and purity. The Vis À Vis reimagined edition continues its story with gentle refinements to its modular character. Softer, more voluminous cushions are outlined by a signature piping that lends a discreet graphic rhythm, highlighting the collection's sculptural and harmonious geometry.

Organic versatility

Vis À Vis extends with a double daybed. Available with or without a backrest, it transforms effortlessly from a spacious lounger into a luxurious pouf. A new organic corner module introduces a distinctive 30° angle, allowing fluid, organically shaped compositions that connect seamlessly with other elements or stand alone as inviting islands of relaxation. Designed for both comfort and versatility, these new pieces integrate naturally with the sofa modules, creating harmonious outdoor lounge arrangements.

“True luxury lies in the details. The technical and aesthetic nuances of the reimagined Vis À Vis collection reflect how subtle design gestures shape an atmosphere of calm, beauty and comfort.”

Its refined tabletop is available in premium plantation teak or travertine, adding depth and a distinctive material contrast, while the teak legs ensure visual harmony within the collection. Designed to connect effortlessly with sofa elements or stand gracefully on its own, the low table enhances any setting with understated sophistication.

The Vis À Vis dining table shares this timeless elegance. Its tabletop, also available in teak or travertine, brings material richness, while the teak frame ensures harmony within the collection. Offered in generous proportions, the dining table creates a natural sense of unity and invites convivial outdoor gatherings.

Every element of Vis À Vis is designed to invite personal compositions that fit gracefully into any outdoor environment with understated sophistication and versatility.

Slidable side curtains and Sunscape fabric panels invite subtle shifts in shade and airflow, allowing the space to transform from sheltered cocoon to sunlit sanctuary with gentle ease. Generous proportions encourage lingering, while optional side tables keep favourite objects - a book, a cool drink, small personal treasures - gracefully within reach.

INTRODUCING

a warm & sophisticated finish

DARK BRONZE

This season introduces Dark Bronze, a refined powder-coated aluminium finish developed exclusively by Tribù. Warm, mineral and quietly luxurious, it brings depth to architectural spaces while blending seamlessly with natural surroundings.

Dark Bronze complements both teak and natural tones of stone or concrete, allowing for nuanced outdoor palettes. Combined with the Canax® Copper weaving, it creates a complementary, ton-sur-ton tactility. Durable, timeless and rich in character, it adds an extra layer of sophistication.

Its subtle surface catches the light with a gentle shimmer, creating a delicate interplay between furniture and environment, from soft highlights in daylight to a deeper, more atmospheric glow at dusk. The result is a finish that enhances form, texture and proportion, revealing every curve and detail.

Dark Bronze will be available on a curated selection of pieces, revealing the depth and versatility of this finish across the collection. From the sculptural softness of Nagomi and the refined craftsmanship of Cesta to the understated purity of the T-Table and the playful geometry of Drops, each piece conveys how the Dark Bronze finish can shape the atmosphere.
